

Cities in the Global South

Wednesday April 13th, 2022, 6:00 – 7:15 pm

This event is virtual and free to attend

You must register for the event

Reflecting on the fact that by this century most of the world urban population will be concentrated in cities in the Global South, this informal presentation will cover how this particular demographic growth compels urban planners, architects and urban subjects to interact, nuance and alter models of the city coming from the West and adopt new philosophies of the city. Illustrations will focus mostly on Latin American Cities and Mumbai Lived Spaces, a short art video that illustrates the dialectic between Western urban forms and Mumbai lived spaces.

Pedro Lange Churión is Professor at the University of San Francisco, where he teaches literature, film, photography, urban studies and critical theory. He has directed various films, including the mid-feature Crocodile (2000), awarded for best screenplay at the World Fest Houston International Film and Video Festival; and Visitas (2005) a featured narrative film, part of the official selection of various international film festivals. He has collaborated in video installations on urban themes: Budapest: The Identity of Façades (2006), The Urban Unseen (2010) and Mumbai Lived Spaces (2013).

For more information, contact Jeff Scholes at jscholes@uccs.edu

The Center for Religious Diversity
and Public Life

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO
COLORADO SPRINGS